Rustic Shingle

The Last Roof You'll Ever Need

High Tech

Rustic Shingle is composed of an advanced aluminum alloy with a non-porous Kynar500/Hylar5000 (polyvinylidene fluoride) coating, the best protective substance in the world for metal roofs. During application, the molecules in the coating are chemically bonded to Rustic Shingle, forming an impenetrable coating that resists fading, peeling, cracking and chalking of the surface. These revolutionary protective coatings ensure Rustic Shingle will have vibrant colors and maximum resistance to harsh weather conditions.

- Made of rust-free, light-weight, recycled aluminum
- Environmentally friendly materials and technology
- 1/13 weight of tile roofs
- 1/5 weight of standard shingles

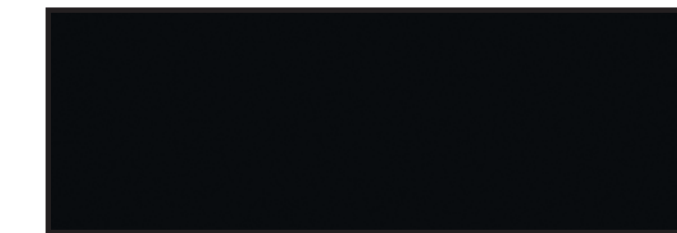

Saves on Energy Costs

Our Kynar/Hylar coating incorporates the advanced hi-R Heat Barrier coating, which creates a cooler, more energy efficient home due to the special reflective pigments embedded in the finish. The complex chemical structure of these pigments reflects away the infrared portion of the sun's rays most responsible for heat. A Rustic Shingle roof coated with hi-R reflects away the sun's heat with the attic space and the entire building staying much cooler in the summer. In the winter, reflected heat from the sun helps the roof shed snow and ice build up evenly and quickly. Homeowners with Rustic Shingle roofs report saving 20% or more on their energy costs.

- Reduces attic heat gain by up to 34%
- Reflects the sun's radiant energy
- Approved US Energy Star Partner
